

Government Responsibilities

The table below lists federal, provincial and municipal government areas of responsibility. Some responsibilities (e.g., transportation, health-care and environment) are shared between the different levels of government.

Federal Government Responsibilities	Provincial Government Responsibilities	Municipal Government Responsibilities
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Agriculture • Currency • Employment and social development • Environment and climate change • Federal law and courts • Fisheries and oceans • Global affairs • Health • Heritage • Immigration and citizenship • Indigenous and northern affairs • Industry • Infrastructure • International trade • National defence • Natural resources • Official languages • Public safety and emergency preparedness • Regional development and diversification • Transportation • Veterans affairs 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Advanced education • Agriculture • The economy • Education (early learning, K-12) • Environment • Government relations • Health-care delivery • Highways and infrastructure • Justice (at the provincial level) • Labour relations and workplace safety • Parks, culture and sport • Social services 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Agriculture and environment • Cultural services • Fire protection • Land use planning and development • Libraries • Local parks • Police protection services • Recreation and community facilities • Roads and bridges • Transportation services • Waste and recycling • Water and sewage treatment